

This is a sample of an iFrame that looks at a PDF document.

An iFrame can reference a web URL or a PDF document....it is all about setting the correct path

I wonder how it handles images? The idea here is to be able to update content and make your site more dynamic.